Time (EDT)	Session	Speaker
1:00 PM	Welcome Remarks	Chip Rogers, President & CEO, AHLA
	Safe Stay Part 1: New Science For A New Clean Keeping guests and employees safe while maximizing resources is always challenging. But lurking health dangers and rising cleanliness expectations created by the pandemic have made it harder than ever. In fact, 95% of guests now expect intensified cleaning. Learn how Dr. Cooper's science-based protocols balance infection-prevention best practices with operational efficiency to ensure what matters most: guest confidence and safety.	Dr. Andy Cooper, Senior Vice President of Research, Development &amp; Engineering, Ecolab
	Safe Stay Part 2: Healthier Indoor Environments for a Safe Return As we emerge out of the pandemic, the success of a safe return to hotels is more about what you can't see than what you can. Hear how Honeywell is helping the hospitality industry create and manage healthier indoor environments so your guests can get back to celebrating in your ballrooms and relaxing in your guest rooms.	Vimal Kapur, President &amp; CEO, Honeywell Building Technologies

Keeping The Promise To Keep Everyone Safe In 2018, AHLA launched the 5-Star Promise, an unprecedented effort to unite the industry to ensure guest and employee safety in hotels. COVID-19 has raised the stakes for this vital initiative immeasurably. Hear about implementation to date in the face of the pandemic and a first-person account from Hyatt on its experiences providing devices to all of its employees.		Mark Hoplamazian, President &amp; CEO, Hyatt Hotels Corporation and AHLA Chair of the Board of Directors
Leading Efforts to Ensure No Room for Trafficking The hotel and lodging industry has a long-standing legacy and commitment to combat human trafficking. Through the No Room for Trafficking Program, AHLA and the AHLA Foundation is pursuing the goal of training every hotel employee to spot trafficking warning signs and report suspicious behavior so our industry can help prevent this tragedy. In this session, Senator Jacky Rosen (D-NV) will share how she has been leading efforts in Congress to raise awareness and combat human trafficking, and she'll provide insights on how the hotel industry can support this important work.		Senator Jacky Rosen (D-NV)
Cyberthreats Are Rising. Are You Ready? Hotels face rapidly changing and intensifying threats to cybersecurity. Your network, data, operations, market position and reputation are all at risk and can all be compromised. Former federal cybersecurity agency director Chris Krebs provides a critically important macro-level look at current and future threats.		Chris Krebs, Former Director, Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency (CISA)
