In many regions, there is a strain on healthcare resources but thanks to AHLA, the hospitality industry has stepped up to put their spaces to good use.

Cunningham Group is proud to offer our expertise in hospitality and healthcare to help hotels adapt their spaces to serve the growing need for healthcare use due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Cunningham Group's Hospitality and Healthcare studios are sharing knowledge with the hotel industry to create safe, clean, and healthy spaces while providing healthcare providers what they need to succeed in these off-site locations.

For hotels not adapted into a COVID-19 facility, Cunningham Group can help owners create new curated guest experiences through safer, healthier spaces.

With six offices nation-wide, we are dedicated to creating healthy communities through design, research, innovation and shared knowledge.
